Languages Tutor

“his instructional skills were exceptional.....”

Father of a high school student

About me

I studied French and Latin at Cambridge and am currently pursuing a PhD while tutoring at the University of Manchester. I have extensive experience in tutoring high school and university students online and have formerly taught English as a full-time teacher in Japan. Moreover, I have supervised the studies of A-level French and GCSE Latin pupils. Languages and literature are my passions, which I love to inspire in those I tutor!
